How can you give Readings by email and over long distances?

My way of connecting with people is no great mystery. I have always been aware of a universal fabric which connects everything, and I mean everything, past, present and future, all that we know of. This is only now coming to light at a scientific level where physicists are revealing an energy stream, the Zero Point Field, that was previously thought of as the space or vacuum, between subatomic particles. This is proving not to be a vacuum at all but an energy 'river' that connects the particles and therefore, logically, everything else in this world and beyond as one giant matrix or 'net'.

Tapping into this net is the way I make contact with whoever or whatever I wish. Like anything else, techniques have to be learned and skills developed, but we all, at some level, have the ability to access this flow of energy that is all around us.

What details do you need in order to carry out a Reading?

I need a name and date of birth and an indication of what areas you would like me to focus on in your Reading. Other than that as much detail as you are comfortable in giving. All information is treated in the strictest confidence.

How long do I have to wait for my Reading?

Normally you will receive your Reading on the same day that you order it. Occasionally and in busy periods it may take up to 24 hours.

What methods do you use to carry out the Readings?

I have numerous methods at my disposal but I normally stand by the tried and trusted Crystal, Tarot and Runes. I may use just one method or a combination of all three, it depends on the Reading and the client.

How can I pay and is it secure?

Payment is by PayPal or Google Checkout. Both these companies accept all major credit and debit cards. You do not need a PayPal account to use their system but with Google Checkout you do need to register with them. I have used both these companies for a number of years with no problems and found them totally secure, safe and efficient.

Do you accept personal telephone calls?

Because of the nature of my work and the isolated location where I live I am unable to accept personal calls - to be honest I did try it once but the phone never stopped ringing and hardly any work was done - so the telephone was took out and never replaced! and I don't miss it one tiny bit!

I need a spell but I don't want anyone to be hurt, can you do this?

Don't worry. All my spells are benign and no one is hurt in anyway. The spells naturally guide events that are meant to be and if you believe in your soulmate then definitely go for the spell – the alternative is not to do anything but the danger there is that matters are out of your hands and you may miss each other along the way.

Are your Love Spells guaranteed to work?

Will the spell work? Well, that depends on many factors. How much you want this person, is he or she in a strong relationship? the phase of the moon when the spell is cast.....and so on.

Spell casting is not a science (thank goodness) and never will be, hence there are no guarantees and no refunds are offered or implied. Having said that my success rate is high, with nine out of ten spells hitting their mark.

If you believe truly that this person is your soulmate and you belong together but circumstances have driven you apart, then a true spell can often be the catalyst you need to make things happen.

I for my part will monitor the spell and keep you informed – authentic spells are like little children – I know where they are at all times and what they are up to.

The best thing is to email me with the details and we can go from there.
